PENITENTIARY CASES

GO TO JURY TODAY

CANON CITY, Dec. 13.—Arguments in the penitentiary graft cases were begun before Judge Williams, at 2:10 this afternoon, by Attorney General Griffith, and continued practically until 5 o'clock. A night session, begun at 7:45, was occupied by Clyde C. Dawson, chief counsel for the defense. Assistant Attorney General Lee will sum up for the prosecution in half an hour's address tomorrow morning.

In his argument this afternoon, Attorney General Griffith stated that approximately 50 cartons of coal, charged by the defendants to the penitentiary, were never delivered there, if the prison records are correct. It is expected the case will go to the jury tomorrow before noon.

MONTROSE MAN ASKS $12,000 ALIMONY IN DIVORCE FROM WIFE

MONTROSE, Dec. 13.—Henry F. Bryant has filed suit for divorce from Rosa Belle Bryant. He asks $12,000 permanent alimony.

Bryant, who is 60 years of age, married the widow of the late William Lines, wealthy Cimarron rancher, two years ago.

He alleges that she has treated him so cruelly and inhumanely that he is unable to make a living for himself. He declares that he is ashamed to meet his neighbors because of his poverty. Mrs. Bryant is 60 years of age.

AMBASSADOR REID IS SERIOUSLY ILL

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Whitlaw Reid, United States ambassador to Great Britain, is seriously ill. He is suffering from asthma, and his condition has become considerably worse during the last week. Several specialists are in attendance.

The ambassador was not well when he returned from America, in October. Afterward he caught cold, from which he was recovering, when he suffered a relapse after delivering his speech at the opening session of the University of Wales, at Aberystwith, on October 31, which overtaxed his strength. He has been confined to his room at Dunchester house most of the time since that date.

The English winter weather is regarded as very unfavorable for persons suffering from the malady with which the ambassador is afflicted.

FRENCHMAN SHOT BY AMERICAN SOCIETY WOMAN

PARIS, Dec. 13.—A sensation was caused here today when it became known that Walter Mumm, a well-known sportsman, and member of a prominent family connected with the wine trade, had been shot Thursday night and seriously wounded by an American woman. No arrest has been made, and no charge has been preferred against anyone for the shooting. It is understood the Mumm family desired to keep the fact of the shooting from becoming known, but the public prosecutor has begun an investigation of the affair, on an allegation by Mumm that his assailant was a wealthy American woman of social prominence. The woman, it is understood, left France this morning.

MURDERED WOMAN'S GRIPS ARE FOUND IN STORAGE

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Two trunks and two suitcases belonging to Mrs. Emma Kraft of Cincinnati, who was beaten fatally with a hammer in a hotel here on November 14, were found today by detectives in a storage warehouse.

The property was checked under the name of "John E. Charters."

A clerk received the trunks and cases at the warehouse on November 11, identified a photograph of John B. Koettner, for whom the police are searching in connection with the killing, as that of "Cutters."

A singular color variation of flowers of Erodium grimum and E. cicutum, two species related to the geranium, has been receiving the attention of Prof. H. Pitting, a German botanist. The flowers change from dark blue on ordinary cool days to white-red on hot days, and when the blue flowers are suddenly exposed to about 105 degrees F. the turning to red is almost instantaneous.

Defauling Postmistress Sentenced to Prison for 1 Hour By Federal Judge

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Ida Simmons, postmistress at Gettysburg, in the Olympic mountains, pleaded guilty today to embezzlement of $800 of postoffice funds, and was sentenced to one hour in prison, Judge Howard saying this was the lightest penalty possible.

It was brought out in court that Mrs. Simmons, deserted by her husband, David Simmons, a locomotive engineer, bought incubators and other equipment for a chicken business, hoping to support herself and her two children. She paid for the articles with postoffice money, expecting to repay it.

Maud Campbell, known also as "Mrs. Simmons," committed suicide in Seattle, November 3. In her room were found hundreds of letters written by David Simmons, husband of the postmistress. Maud Campbell took poison on learning that Simmons was married.

REGAINS SIGHT WHILE ON WAY HOME FROM DOCTOR

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 13.—L. R. Marmon, a farmer living near Columbus, Neb., who was stricken blind by a bolt of lightning 18 months ago, recovered his sight in the union depot here today.

Three months ago the man went to St. Louis and underwent an operation. Apparently it failed and with his wife he left St. Louis for home yesterday. While waiting for his train to Nebraska, Marmon rested in the depot waiting room.

"Mary! Mary!" he suddenly called out. "The light! What has happened?"

Nothing had happened to the lights. There was a dim, vague outline of the electric and a glow that could only mean returning sight. His wife was quick to the emergency.

"Louis," she said, "you can see. We must go back to the doctor, so you can get entirely well."

They boarded a St. Louis-bound train.

BILLS COST STATE LARGE SUM AT LAST ELECTION

DENVER, Dec. 13.—Initiated and referred bills submitted to the voters on November 5 cost $119,000, according to figures submitted by Secretary of State J. F. Pearce to Governor-elect E. M. Ammons today. This sum, together with $128,000 interest on old state bonds, it is understood, must be appropriated by the Nineteenth general assembly, which convenes in January next.

Governor-elect Ammons is gathering data on the appropriations to be made by the assembly that he may compare them with the estimated revenue of the state for the next two years.

TRAFFIC OPENED TO INTERIOR OF MEXICO

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 13.—Traffic was opened today over the Mexican Central railway between Juarez and Chihuahua, capital of the state of the same name, below which point the government road remains closed. PLAN BABY EXHIBIT FOR DENVER STOCK SHOW NEXT MONTH

DENVER, Dec. 13.—In connection with the exhibitions of prize hogs, thoroughbred cattle and fine horses at the National Western Stock show in Denver, January 20 to 25, there will be a prize baby show. It is the idea of President Ammons, the governor-elect, and other members of the stock show association, that competition will raise the standard in babies just as it has raised the standard in the breeding of horses and cattle.

There will be a baby championship class with a cash prize of $50 to be given to the finest infant of any age up to 36 months of either sex in any class. Then there will be a "sweepstakes" for the best boy baby and the best girl baby with a prize of $25.

In addition to these there are three divisions. The first is for country districts and towns of less than 2,000 inhabitants. Two prizes of $10 and $5 each will be awarded to the best boy and girl babies between 12 and 24 months of age and 24 and 36 months. The second division is for towns of more than 2,000 inhabitants and less than 10,000. The third division is for towns of more than 10,000 inhabitants.

FOUR MURDERERS HANGED IN OREGON

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 13.—Four murderers, Noye Paulder, Frank Garrison, Michael Morgan and H. E. Roberts, were hanged in the state penitentiary here today, within an hour. The men were hanged in pairs. Garrison and Paulder being the first to be summoned to the death chamber. Asked if they had a statement to make, Paulder virtually admitted his guilt, but Garrison protested his innocence of the crime of which he was convicted.

Morgan and Roberts met death a half hour later. Roberts admitted his guilt. He attributed his crime to perjury. He had been serving several years on terms, and to his work at an emery wheel, which he said had affected his mind. Morgan did not make a statement, but Rev. A. A. Moore, who had been his spiritual adviser, said Morgan had told him he had killed John Yorke, a rancher, in self-defense.

"I have done my duty in this matter, and I have nothing further to say," was the brief statement given out by Governor West after the executions.

PARAFFIN CARGO CATCHES ON FIRE; LOSS, $400,000

NAPLES, Dec. 13.—A blaze that for a time threatened to become serious occurred here when a barge loaded with 200 tons of paraffin taken from the White Star line steamer Adriatic from New York, caught fire.

The flames spread to 11 small boats in the vicinity of the barge, destroying all of them and threatening other shipping. Sailors from the warships and the harbor firemen succeeded in confining the fire to these craft. The loss is estimated at $400,000.

INVESTIGATION NEW YORK VICE DISTRICT IS BEGUN

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Secret meetings of women of questionable character, started to action by the revelations of Mary Goode, confessed keeper of a disorderly resort, are being held, in furtherance of a movement to better their condition, and in rebellion against what they, like Mrs. Goode, declare to be police oppression.

Reports of their meetings indicate that they intend to petition Mayor Gaynor for a commission to consider the whole problem of the social evil, with segregation indicated as the solution they deem preferable.

More than incidentally have appeared in the course of what promises to be the most drastic investigation of the police department since the developments of police corruption involved in the Rosenthal murder and the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker.

District Attorney Whitman is known to have his forces busily employed, looking not only into Mrs. Goode's charges, but those of other women who are said to have corroborated her story, and to have supplied evidence that the conditions she outlined prevail throughout the city.

These women are prospective witnesses before a special "vice" grand jury which is expected to be empaneled. Some of them are counted upon also as witnesses before the Aldermanic investigation committee before which Mrs. Goode told her story.

HEAVY GRAIN BLOCKADE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Three miles of giant freighters, their hulls filled with millions of bushels of grain, are riding at anchor inside the breakwater of Buffalo's outer harbor to night, forming one of the heaviest blockades of grain in the history of the port.

The total cargo value of the fleet in winter quarters here is estimated at $20,000,000. The grain will be transhipped at the rate of 500 to 1,000 carloads a day during the winter, and the remainder will be shipped by canal in the spring.

PARROT, ONLY WITNESS TO MURDER, MAY SOLVE CASE

DENVER, Dec. 13.—A parrot, the only known witness to the tragedy, is the chief reliance of the Denver police in their effort to find a solution for the murder and suicide which ended the lives of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Johnson, whose bodies were found in their hotel here Tuesday. The bird is a fluent talker and has belonged to the Johnsons for the last four years. It was in the room at the time the bodies were discovered. Believing that if a quarrel preceded the shooting, the bird might be coaxed to repeat the conversation, it was turned over to a bird fancier today.

Parole Prisoner in Missouri to Serve a Term in Illinois

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 13.—Governor Hadley today paroled Aaron B. Donaldson, serving a term of three years in the penitentiary, to the warden of the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet, on condition that, after Donaldson has served his 14-year sentence in Illinois, he will be returned to the Missouri penitentiary to complete his sentence.

The parole, the first of its kind ever issued in Missouri, was done to relieve the Illinois bondsmen to Donaldson from paying $20,000 bond for their failure to produce Donaldson after his sentence was affirmed by the Illinois supreme court.

Donaldson was convicted in Missouri and Illinois for obtaining money on fraudulent representations and appeared on both convictions. The Missouri court affirmed the sentence first, and the Illinois bondsmen could not produce him because he was in the prison here. He formerly was a minister.

AGED AND INFIRM LOST THEIR ALL IN FAKE CO.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Witnesses brought by the government from Massachusetts, Ohio, West Virginia and New York today testified concerning alleged losses incurred in buying mining and oil stocks issued by A. L. Wisner & Co.

A. L. Wisner and John J. Meyers, members of the firm, are on trial charged with fraudulent use of the mails in disposing of this stock. Mr. and Mrs. Uthman Derby, an aged couple from Concord, Mass., testified that they were defrauded of $10,000.

Mrs. Derby said she and her husband were looking for a safe investment for their savings when they met A. A. Butterfield, an agent for the defendants, who described the great possibilities of the Wisner securities.

Upon his assurances, she said, they bought the stock, paying the firm all the money they had. Later they tried to borrow money from the firm, offering the stock as security, but the loan was refused.

Peter J. Bollinger, a deaf mute of Buffalo, testified he invested $1,000 after reading literature, describing the defendants' property as "richer than any gold field that has been discovered since 1890."

Literature sent to prospective customers was introduced. One text read: "We are an ordinary firm, we are not deal in ordinary enterprises, and we take absolutely no risks; we do not trust to luck, and our customers can absolutely rely on us, and we guarantee them that they can make money with us without risk, quickly and easily."

COLORADO AGGIES PUT HAZING UNDER THE BAN

FORT COLLINS, Dec. 13.—Sophomores of the State Agricultural college in mass meeting here today decided to abolish hazing in all its forms from student activities in the college here.

At the same moment of the mass meeting, the state board of agriculture was in session for the adoption of a resolution, which the board adopted, declaring for strict enforcement of the state laws against hazing. The students did not know of the deliberations of the board at the time their own resolution was passed.

DENVER CHURCH IS TO ENTER SHOW BUSINESS

DENVER, Dec. 13.—A church theater to present a model standard of theater for the adult members of the congregation and instructive pictures for the children, will be opened in Denver, December 20, according to a statement issued today by Fr. H. L. McManis of the fashionable Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. The formal opening is scheduled for December 20.

HABEAS CORPUS CASE FOR CUSTODY OF CHILD HALTED

DENVER, Dec. 13.—The habeas corpus suit brought by Mrs. Alice Broxholme against Mrs. P. B. Parks, wife of a rich ranchman of Rio Blanco county, to obtain possession of her 7-year-old son, whom Mrs. Broxholme claims as her daughter, was halted this morning by an application of the defendant for change of venue. The motion will be argued in the West Side court Monday. Mrs. Broxholme lives in London.

Servian Press Urges War.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—"During the last few days the Servian press has surprised itself in vituperation of Austria-Hungary," says a dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Vienna. The Servian military party clearly desires a complete rupture, and is receiving the strongest support from the Belgrade newspapers which want the brilliant prowess of Servian arms in the present campaign, and compare Austria-Hungary with Turkey. They say that the Servians would be certain to gain a victory against the Austrian forces, armed with old artillery, while such a war would threaten the very existence of the Hapsburg monarchy, because it would be impossible for Austria to occupy Servia without conjuring up an European war that would end in the disintegration and partitioning of Austria-Hungary, between Italy, Russia, Roumania and Servia.

May Exclude Roumania.

LONDON, Dec. 14 (Saturday).—The Times confirms the report that the Balkan delegates held a formal meeting last night, exchanged views on the entire situation and established a perfect unity of purpose in regard to the approaching negotiations.

The Times considered it improbable that Roumania will be admitted to the ambassadorial conference, because, it says, this would necessitate inviting the Balkan ministers, thus turning an informal into a formal conference.

A dispatch to the Times from Constantinople says the correspondents learn that, the Ottoman plenipotentiaries were instructed to propose to the Balkan allies that the Greek plenipotentiaries be invited to join in the negotiations with the other delegates in order to save time.

If the Greeks acquiesce, the conference will be held without the Greeks signing the armistice; otherwise, Turkey will regard Greece as having seceded from the Balkan league.

Steamship Service Stopped.

BELGRADE, Dec. 13.—The Austrian steamship companies, having regular sailings to Servian stations on the Danube, stopped their services today. The Austrian authorities are enforcing rigorous regulations in the passenger service at the Austro-Servian frontier stations.

GOV. SHAFROTH FAVORS CENSORSHIP BUREAU FOR PROPOSED LEGISLATION

DENVER, Dec. 13.-Governor Shafrath in his message to the new legislature, which convenes January 2, will recommend that an advisory bureau on the sociological, economical and legal phases of measures to be passed upon during the coming session be established. The purpose of such a bureau, says the governor, would be to give the general assembly the advantages of advance information on the composite good features of similar bills passed in other states. Governor-elect Ammons has endorsed Governor Shafrath's idea, and will urge the legislature to follow out his instructions. Professor William Blithke, head of the department of sociology and economics of the University of Colorado, has been requested by Shafrath and Ammons to accept charge of the bureau, if the legislature passes favorably on it. Blithke has been promised his release from university service during the session, and it is understood that he will accept it. Governor Shafrath's suggestion is complied with.

"Such a bureau," said Governor Shafrath yesterday, "would save considerable time to committees. Its information could be relied upon and would be far more satisfactory than this secured under present methods. Professor Blithke is particularly well suited to head such a bureau, and could give the legislature expert information on all phases of legislative questions."

Dumb Chills and Fever

Douglasville, Tex.—Five years ago, I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Miss Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time was taken with dumb chills and fevers, and suffered more than I can tell. Cardui does one thing, and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years of success. As a tonic, there is nothing in the drug-store like it. As a remedy for women's ills, it has no equal. Try it. From left to right, they are, Camilla Pisalino, aged 7, who works from 7:30 a. m. until school-time, and after school until 10 o'clock; her sister, Maria Piccillo, aged 9, and Gena Vitrali who, at 6, is so broken down from overwork that her mentality is seriously menaced. These little girls are forced to aid their parents on all sorts of funny work for miserably low pay in the stuffy unsanitary tenements of New York's east side.

GOVERNMENT IS NOW AFTER-CANDY TRUST

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—The "candy trust" of Philadelphia was attacked by Attorney General Wickorsham in a civil antitrust suit filed here today against the Philadelphia Jobbing Confectioners association. Members and officers of the association have combined and conspired, it is charged, to coerce candy manufacturers from selling direct to retailers to consumers or to jobbers other than members of the association. The government declares that the acts of the association complained of are "in derogation of the common rights of all the people of the United States" and in violation of the Sherman law. The attorney general asks for injunctions against their continuance.

The individual defendants are officers or members of the association. The individual firms comprising the association handle it is pointed out, the products of candy manufacturers of New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania and other states. By their combination and conspiracy it is added they refrain from purchasing from all nonassociation candy manufacturers or from manufacturers who sell direct to retailer or consumer in and about Philadelphia.

CONFESSES MURDER JUST BEFORE TRAP IS SPRUNG

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 13.—Just before he was hanged here today, Robert L. Clay broke silence of seven months and confessed to the murder of his wife here last May. Clay said he went to see his wife, from whom he had been separated, and as he entered the house he stopped to kiss his baby boy, and the child shoved him away. This so angered him, he said, that he shot his wife dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—Eggs sold generally throughout this city today for 24 cents a dozen, as a result of the crusade inaugurated Wednesday.

In addition to the 7,000 cases containing 2,520,000 eggs, sold under the direction of the Housekeepers' league, retail dealers sold from their own stocks at the same price, one dealer advertising suffragette eggs, 23 cents a dozen.

The league has disposed of 5,480,000 eggs since the campaign to reduce the high price of living began. Sixty stations are now operated. The league expects to open on Monday with 300 stations.

ROCKY FORD BANKER GAVE NOTE TO COVER SHOTGAGE

DENVER, Dec. 13.—Testimony that J. R. Cunningham, former president of the First National bank of Rocky Ford, on trial here in the federal court in connection with the failure of that institution, gave his personal note for $12,500 to G. A. Harris, cashier of the bank, who committed suicide when the institution failed, was given in today's trial by Mrs. Harris. She declared that she found the note signed by Cunningham when going over some of her husband's papers. When it was learned that the note had been discovered, said Mrs. Harris, Cunningham redeemed it. Charles R. Carlisle of Pueblo testified that he took $100,000 from the First National bank in Pueblo to Rocky Ford to protect the creditors of Cunningham's bank.

HAVE ENOUGH MONEY TO SETTLE ACCOUNTS

DENVER, Dec. 13.—Voluntary settlement of the claims of depositors against the Denver Savings bank by Leonard Imboden and James A. Hill will not depend upon the suits which they have filed for damages against Guy Le Roy Stevick, receiver for the institution, and others for damages of $953,000 on the allegation of conspiracy to defraud the bank, according to Lyndon E. Smith, attorney for the two men. He says that their plans for restitution to the creditors do not depend upon and will not be affected by the legal actions they have brought.

It is their intention to proceed with their financial work regardless of the outcome of the suits. A second suit was filed yesterday by Hill and William Barth. It is against Guy Le Roy Stevick, the receiver of the bank, and the Fidelity & Deposit company of Maryland, the bonding company which gave a $1,000,000 surety for Stevick as receiver. Damages of $953,000 are sought against Stevick and the company—the same sum that is named as the estimate of damages made in the case begun Wednesday against Stevick, John L. Mullins, James J. Banks, E. H. Park, Thomas J. O'Donnell and Thomas Harrington.

"Well, she'll have a hard time getting it," Miss Lulu Glaser's eyes fairly blazed as she shot this answer at a reporter who told her that Mrs. Bertha Richards, wife of Thomas Richards, formerly of Colorado Springs, is demanding $50,000 damages in her suit against the actress, charging alienating of Richard's affections. When the complaint was served on Miss Glaser she was technically under arrest for almost an hour, until the manager of the theater at which she and Thomas were playing secured her release by furnishing $2,000 bail. Miss Glaser said she did not wish to discuss the suit.

THE STROLLERS MALE QUARTET,
Who Will Appear at the Burns Theater Monday Evening, December 16, in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course.

As a mark of genuine appreciation of the high-grade programs of this quartet, a delighted populace has inscribed over their name the word "super-fine," and "Strollers" has become one of the most popular of musical companies in the west. A sufficient evidence of this assertion is found in the fact that during the season of 1911-12, the Strollers were asked for in many more places than there were days in the season.

This did not just happen so. There are sufficient reasons for it, and those who have taken the pains to analyze the personnel of this quartet and catch the rhythmic swing of its ensemble work fully understand. Every man in the world admires a real artist. But when four men of rare talents combine in one company, the admiration of the listener turns to enthusiasm.

Lecture Here Shortly on Radium, Liquid Air, Wireless Telegraphy

The Engineers club of Colorado college this morning will sign contracts for a lecture, accompanied by demonstrations, on liquid air, radium and wireless telegraphy, this lecture to be given at Perkins hall, probably the evening of February 5, if that date can be fitted to the social schedule at the college. The lecture will be delivered by Professor William B. Patti of Chicago.

Professor F. H. Loud, emeritus professor of mathematics at the college, spoke before the club last night on "Esperanto, the Universal Language." He discussed the benefits of this tongue as they have developed in actual use, and explained the derivation of the endings of the different words.

WAIVES EXAMINATION

It is understood that he will ask for immediate arraignment in the district court, and that he may be admitted to bond, and direct information will be filed against him in the district court, the probable charge being manslaughter.

INSIST ON MUNYON'S Paw-Paw Pills FOR Constipation

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scourge, they do not grip, they do not weaken, but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no drugs, they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They show the benefits to act without physical. Price 25 cents. All druggists.

Laborer Steals Ride; Both Feet Are Frozen on Unlucky Thirteenth

Friday, the 13th, was an unlucky day for Charles Letcher, a laborer, who may lose both his feet as a sinister visitation of the legendary calamitous day. In the midnight morning hours he climbed into a freight car at Florence to beat his way to Colorado Springs in search of work.

He was ily clad, and almost perished from cold before the train arrived in Colorado Springs yesterday morning. When he tried to crawl out of the car he found that his feet were so severely frozen that he could not free them. He fell out of the car and rolled down an embankment in the Santa Fe yards, where he was found shortly before 9 o'clock by the police and taken to St. Francis hospital.

For a long time he had lain beside the tracks, hidden behind a pile of ties, feebly crying for help.

At St. Francis hospital last night it was said that Letcher is in a serious condition, and that it probably will be necessary to amputate his toes, and possibly both feet.

The bulk of Mrs. Welles' estate falls to her son. He also will keep up her endowment of the Young Ladies Club of Denver.

"Get Marriage License Friday, Thirteenth? Not Me," Says Wouldbe Bride

Superstitions of Friday, the 13th, as a day of sinister omen, were manifest yesterday in the conspicuous absence of applicants for marriage licenses at the office of the county clerk. A young couple got as far as the door of the clerk's office, when the girl, glancing at a big calendar on the wall, exclaimed:

"Why, it's Friday, the 13th. We can't get married today, or we would be unlucky all our lives."

The young man seemed willing to take the chance, but the girl would not consent. No other applicants appeared all day.

NO POISON FOUND IN BODY OF "RACE HORSE SHORTY"

Analysis by the city chemist found no traces of poison in the stomach of the unknown man found dead in bed Thursday morning at the People's Mission. Death resulted, it is believed, from acute dilation of the heart, caused by indigestion. An inquest will not be held. The identity of the man has not been established, save that he was known as "Race Horse Shorty," but it is believed his name is either Tom Monahan or M. J. Conley, signatures appearing on the hotel register for the room assigned him and a companion the night before the death. His companion, who disappeared the morning of the death, has not been found.

The petitions of Louis Webber, sentenced here in 1910 for assault, and James Selfridge, sentenced from Mineral county in 1907 for murder, were heard, but action was deferred until the next meeting of the board, in January. Six petitions were denied.

Name Cast Tuesday for College French Play

Under the supervision of a committee composed of Professors Hills and Jameson of Colorado college and Madame Meunier, the cast for the annual play given by le Cercle Francais of the college will be chosen at 4 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon. The play is to be given during the week of March 24, in Crowswell theater, Bemis hall.

One of Moliere's comedies has been chosen by the club for this year's production, "Le Malade Imaginaire," which deals with the adventures of a man who imagines himself ill.

Le Cercle Francais is one of the language clubs at Colorado college, and is intended to give the students of French practice in speaking that language. It is a custom of the club to give a French play each year, and in its production they are assisted by the teachers in the French department. Madame Meunier coaches the cast on pronunciation. The German club at the college also presents a play during the school year. These language plays are among the few at the college in which the faculty will permit coeducational participation.

Eastern Colorado Makes Remarkable Showing This Fall

From stations in eastern Colorado along the Rock Island railroad this fall, 1,113 cars of grain have been shipped to various points, according to figures given out by P. H. Evans, local commercial agent for the road. The grain shipped includes wheat, rye, oats, barley, flax and corn. In addition each one of the stations has shipped large quantities of potatoes, butter, cheese, vegetables and live stock. In one month one of the small stations did $8,000 worth of freight business. The table of grain shipments follow:

CIVIC LEAGUE MEETS

Municipal ownership of an electric lighting system is advocated by the Civic league, and its meeting yesterday afternoon was largely devoted to discussion of benefits that might be derived from a city owned plant.

DEBATE IN FEBRUARY

The annual Pearsons-Apollonian debate at Colorado college is to be held in February, according to present plans. The question this year was submitted by the Pearsons society, and the Apollonian club chose to argue the negative side of the question.

The Apollonian club has won a majority of the debates held between the two organizations in former years. By a curious coincidence in the matter of choosing sides, this club has held the negative position every question argued for the last four years.

The question for debate this year is on the single tax system as applied to the state of Colorado. It is not the Henry George theory but has a more local application. The question as stated now stands: "Resolved, That all taxes on real estate improvements and on personal property should be abolished in the state of Colorado by reducing the rate of such taxes 20 per cent of the total levy the first fiscal year and an additional 20 per cent each year thereafter with a corresponding increase in the taxes on land values till at the end of five years a single tax would be levied on land values."

There is always a great deal of rivalry shown between the two clubs in these debates and much interest on the part of the townspeople as well. In the literary life of the college the annual debate is the big event of the year and to do away with the frequent disputes and misunderstandings that have arisen in former years, a definite set of rules governing the debate has been agreed upon by both societies. Among the most important of these is the matter of rebuttal. This year each speaker is to have a rebuttal speech in addition to his constructive argument and is to have 10 minutes for his first speech and 5 minutes for the rebuttal.

A new plan has also been adopted for the choosing of judges. According to the new rules each society chooses a faculty representative and these two choose a third member of the faculty for the committee. This committee then chooses the five judges who are to act in the debate. A movement was started to have a conference of the judges in deciding the winning team, but this did not go through and as before there will be no conference of the judges.

WAITING FOR PROVIDENCE

MANY times when all seemed lost, Providence has come to the rescue of the Republican party. It did so in 1892, sending a panic that resurrected the Grand Old Party, after its disastrous defeat of that year, and relegating the Democratic opposition to an obscurity that lasted 16 years.

Another crisis has now arisen; again it would seem that only the interposition of Providence can save the Republican party. It is nearer dissolution than it has ever been in its history. There is much talk of reorganization, but who will do the reorganizing, and along what lines? Can there be conceived a reorganization that will not further split the distracted remnants of the once proud and victorious party?

The New York Evening Post cannot be accused of partiality for the Progressive party. Yet its Washington correspondent writes, concerning the efforts of the old guard Republican reorganizers:

None of these men seems to realize the extent to which the result of the election was a repudiation of the things they are regarded as standing for rather than an endorsement in any special way of any other party. If the much-talked-of Republican "revival dinner," appointed for January 4 should turn out to be principally a reunion of the Penroses, Barnses, Guggenheims, et al., who were so vigorously disavowed on election day; if it should be largely a reiteration of Old Guard Republicanism; if there should fall to be a very distinct and a decidedly penitent recognition of what happened all over the country last month, the position of the regular Republicans in Congress will be pitiful. They will be standing for nothing, heading no whither and the movement forward will belong to the Democrats and to the handful of Bull Moons.

There would seem to be just one chance for the rehabilitation of the Republican party. If the Democratic tariff revision should be so violent as to bring on business stagnation, or if there should be a general crop failure plunging the country into panic, then, probably, the mass of the voters would again turn to the Republican party and high protection for relief.

But there seems little chance, at present, for any such combination of events. From all indications, the Democrats will proceed most conservatively with revision. House Leader Oscar Underwood, who will have charge of the tariff bills, dines in New York with the kings of finance, on the friendliest of terms. President-elect Wilson assures the country that, while the Democratic platform declares that a protective tariff is unconstitutional, the Democrats will not act upon that theory, but will proceed to revise the tariff downward so gradually that business will not be injuriously affected.

If the Democrats carry out this program it is not likely, owing to the splendid crops of the past year, and the general revival of business confidence, that there will be any general disturbance of business in any way approaching a panic. The Republican party has been constituted on the theory that a high protective policy is necessary for the prosperity of the nation; that a Republican tariff is necessary to the continued existence of business. Torn asunder as the old party now is, what hope will there be for its resurrection if the Democrats prove that the tariff can be revised and the nation still live?

THE COUNTY'S NEEDS

WHAT Colorado Springs needs first, for the increase of its trade, is unquestionably the development of the agricultural resources of El Paso county. As Professor Morton of the Agricultural college pointed out at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, there are big problems to be solved before dry farming in El Paso county will be an unqualified success.

First in importance, probably, is the improvement of dry farming methods. Undoubtedly science has not done all it can do all it will do in bringing under subjection our now dry and arid lands, and in finding suitable crops for them. But, through the investigations of scientists, constant progress is being made along these lines. Each year new areas are wrested from the desert; constantly new drought-defying crops are being discovered and acclimated.

The complete conquest of the dry lands must, of course, wait upon science. But what Colorado Springs, through its Chamber of Commerce, can and should do at once is to make secure the advance that has already been won. By means of the loans made to dry farmers this spring hundreds were saved from failure. But, as was pointed out by Professor Morton and others, dry farming success cannot be hoped for through the raising of grain crops alone. There must be dairying and stock raising.

Unfortunately, most of the men who have settled on the dry farms are too poor to buy the stock necessary for engaging in these occupations. If they are to succeed, then, they must have help. Why not arrange to loan them the money they need for the purchase of stock? Once they are firmly established El Paso county will be one of the big agricultural counties of the state. And that will mean a largely increased business in all lines for Colorado Springs.

It would seem to be a result in every way worth sacrificing something to secure.

WANTED: A SANTA CLAUS

"DON'T Disappoint the Children," was urged in a letter to the Open Parliament yesterday by a person who believes the charitable organizations of the city should secure the letters written to "Santa Claus," which otherwise will go to the dead letter office, and make an effort to see that some at least of the desires of the childish believers in the good Saint Nick are not wholly forgotten on childhood's Day of All Days.

The suggestion should be acted upon. Some of the requests, undoubtedly, will come from children whose own parents are perfectly able to see to it that Santa Claus shall supply all things necessary. But many of the letters, as in past years, will come from little ones who write to Santa Claus only as their last desperate hope for filling their stockings on Christmas eve. It ought to be possible to sift the deserving from those who are in no need, and in as rich a city as this to let no child go through Christmas day without receiving some little toy to gladden his heart.

A CONTRAST

THE Progressive idea is to organize at once, in order to secure the passage, through Congress and State legislatures, of as large a proportion as possible of the promised Progressive legislation, accepting assistance from men of all parties in the enactment of this legislation.

The Republican idea is to sit back, offer as much opposition as possible to every measure proposed by the Democrats, and trust that, through Democratic mistakes, the Republican party will be rehabilitated, and again intrusted with the control of the administration.

Which party is it that places patriotism above partisanship? Which is it that offers a constructive program of legislation? Which is it, therefore, that will live?

TO WHAT GOOD?

THE decision of the United States supreme court has not secured lower freight rates, better service or higher wages for employes, but it has created a panicky feeling in financial circles. Of course, in any readjustment of industrial conditions in the United States there are bound to be business flurries. But what's the use of disturbing business, as has been done to such an extent by the Union Pacific decision, when such disturbance does not result in the slightest improvement of the conditions we are endeavoring to improve?

OPEN PARLIAMENT

(All letters intended for the Open Parliament must bear the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication but as an evidence of good faith. Controversial letters will not be published without the signature of the writer. Communications for this department should be limited to 400 words and should be free from personalities.)

THE ONLY COMPROMISE

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 While I do not care to put myself forward as a knocker, nor in any way to discourage the full development of Colorado, yet I feel it might be of interest to point out certain sectional jealousies in Colorado which are injuring the state.
 This sectional jealousy was apparent last January when the Good Roads convention met in Pueblo, and this same jealousy probably caused the defeat of the highway bond issue last election. At present it is showing itself in the efforts of the different cities and communities to secure the first permanent transcontinental highway which the American Automobile association will surface from coast to coast.
 Can Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo get together? Can they get together and arrange upon a road that will be satisfactory to all, and yet give the auto-tourist a true picture of Colorado?

I think they can. Here is the plan. Let Denver blot out its interstate road entering from the east. Let Colorado Springs cease operations on the Lincoln road east of Colorado Springs. And then let the three cities adopt the Santa Fe trail to Pueblo. From Pueblo direct the tourist to Canon City and thence to Cripple Creek, and then to Colorado Springs. After an enjoyable visit here the tourist can go to Denver, and from Denver west over Berthoud Pass to Idaho Springs, Sulphur Springs, Kremmling, Glenwood Springs and Grand Junction. A southern trip could be planned into the San Luis valley, and a northern loop out of Denver to Greeley, Fort Collins, Estes Park and Boulder.

My blotting out a road I mean to cease advertising it. I think all the cities interested could unite in this matter and send their literature to the east directing the tourist to Pueblo from Kansas City over the Santa Fe trail. In this way these cities would secure the support of the Santa Fe Trail association in their efforts to have the American Automobile association adopt the Santa Fe trail as the first paved transcontinental highway. The route indicated I am convinced would be the most representative of Colorado and would satisfy alike the cities of Pueblo, Canon City, Cripple Creek, Colorado Springs, Denver, Sulphur Springs, Glenwood Springs and Grand Junction.

A second route which I think advisable would be the diversion of the Midland trail from Limon to Colorado Springs and hence to Denver; or the adoption by the Midland Trail association of the Lincoln road to Colorado Springs and hence to Denver. The tourist could make the Pueblo-Canon City-Cripple Creek trip if desired. The objection would be that either of these routes would not receive the support of the powerful Santa Fe Trail association.

By all means, Colorado Springs and Denver must be in the auto-tourist's itinerary, as these two cities are known all over the east. These two cities must join hands, select the road they intend to boast jointly, and get together and boost it. The unity of these two cities is absolutely necessary.

A SOCIALIST REPLIES.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 The platform of the Socialist party nowhere upholds or opposes religion or the church—as The Gazette seems to imply.

The Socialist fight is an economic fight. We claim that all this talk about "equal opportunities for all" is a system of plain sophistry, when our society is so arranged that all of the people cannot have equal chances, as your spokesmen would have us believe.

From what we can make out from speeches and editorials against Socialism, the Socialists are not very desirable factors in most of our good Christian communities, because, forsooth, they always keep on preaching "class hatred." This same charge was made against the early Christians, later against the Protestants, and not so many years ago against the now defunct Republican party.

That the church has forgotten its mission to help the lowly no one but an ignoramus can deny. Eugene Sue traces the evolution of progress by pointing out that the most oppressive rulers throughout the ages were defended by the secular church. Even in Puritan New England they made use of the pillory, the whipping post and the flames as a means of making God-fearing citizens. When chattel slavery was necessary to the southern plantation owner, ministers proved its inviolate sacredness by quoting the Bible in its defense.

May I ask what stand the ministers and churches have taken against this sentiment from the Brooklyn Nativity Mentor: "The Socialist is the mad dog of society and should be silenced. It need be, with a bullet." Great Christian brotherly love in these days of enlightenment, isn't it?

The Socialist movement has a mission. That mission spells "economic freedom," and I do not think that it takes a head as big as Cheyenne mountain to learn that if a man or woman has all the means of life insured he or she is going to lose his or her religion immediately, though that is what most of our opponents seem to think of Socialism.

But whether our critics like our movement or not, the Socialists everywhere are determined to fight this economic battle this side of the grave, and they do not care whether victory comes in ten years or ten decades. They are going to fight it out to a finish.

A. G. BERNAT.

Colorado Springs, December 12.

G. K. W.

By RUTH CAMERON.

The other day I was comparing expense accounts with a friend and every now and then I came across an item which read "G. K. W." It always occurred at the foot of a column of weekly or monthly expenses and varied in size from 9 cents to $2.47.

Finally I asked the meaning of this symbol. "Oh, that's the money I can't account for," said she. "The money that I've spent for little things here and there. When there is a few cents in a day, or a few dollars in a month, that I can't account for, I don't worry about it. I know it's gone and that's all there is to it, so I just say I spent it for goodness knows what, and charge it up to G. K. W."

An ingenious and ingenious method, isn't it? And although I condemn myself in the eyes of my accurate account keepers, I must admit that it appealed to me as a such a much more sensible way of getting back at those scrooge-like little expenditures which take pleasure in eluding us, than giving them all the time they want.

However, I didn't bring this matter up to recommend the G. K. W. method. What it brought to my mind most forcibly was this—how much money trickles out of all our pockets through that little hole so aptly called G. K. W.

It isn't the big, inevitable, regular expenses which one can definitely reckon that make it so hard to save. It's the incessant little here and there expenses that nibble at the dollars by nickels and dimens and quarters until all our surplus is gone.

The other day I allowed myself to take a rather expensive day's trip. I reckoned the expense of the day at $6, which I felt I could afford if I went without several things I had intended to buy. But I couldn't afford a cent more. When I reached home that night I had $1.75 left from a ten-dollar bill. What had become of the $2.24? Oh, it had been spent for a magazine, tips, sweet chocolate, newspapers, a souvenir, etc.—in short for G. K. W.

Has that ever happened to you? If you are an average person I venture to say that it has, for G. K. W. is the robber of us all.

It isn't just the price of coat or meat or rent, or even the very high price of babies, that keeps most young people from saving. It's simply because they don't reckon on G. K. W.

I had no right to take that trip at that cost. I should either have gone without the extras or stayed at home.

And that is just the matter with the budget of a great many individuals. They should either recognize the demands of G. K. W. and keep down their expenses accordingly, or else refuse to yield to those demands.

Otherwise G. K. W. will certainly eat up the surplus that should go for saving—and quite frequently more.

Modern Inventions

THE TELEPHONE

By GEORGE FITCH,
 Author of "At Good-Old Blawh"

The telephone is the modern invention which would most nearly upset our forefathers if they were to return and look us over. They might marvel at the electric light and climb trees, to escape the trolley cars, but if a Pilgrim father were to deposit a conversation in a small box and find it later in the ear of a personal friend 1,000 miles away he would rise up and yell for a witchcraft commission.

The telephone has made neighborhoods out of states and families out of cities. It has put the grocer and butcher within arms' reach of the housewife and has doubled the life of every pair of shoes. It has put the farmer into the city in three rings and a curse word and keeps the young man within reach of his sweetheart, no matter how far.

"To tell him he is the wrong number and had better hang up." The telephone enables a man to go 100 miles and return while his feet are on his desk, and it enables a lovely woman to talk with her friends across the city until her arm gets paralysed without giving the gossip next door any satisfaction.

But the telephone also has its penalties. It has filled our homes full of strangers and reporters and peddlers and has enabled the world to bustle in over a thin wire and interrupt our meals and sleep without waiting for admission. The telephone edges in and annoys the lover while he is proposing and yanks the head of the house downstairs at 3 a. m. of a cold night in order to tell him that he is the wrong number and had better hang up.

The telephone is a vast convenience and without it the world would die of loneliness and sore feet. But like all blessings it is not appreciated. Thirty years ago it took an hour to go down town and get the baseball scores. Nowadays if a fan waits half a minute at the telephone before his suspense is relieved they have to burn sulphur all over the house to get the conversation out of it.

The telephone has ruined the profession of chiropractic, but it has increased profanity 1,100 per cent, and the citizen who can say "hello" twice without reversing the word and saying it backwards is considered too good for this world.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Take care. Some accident threatens. Your health will also require attention. In money matters you will prosper and if you are employed you will see some way in which you can advance your employer's interest and, therefore, your own.

Those born today will be quick and active and, therefore, liable to accident. They will be responsive and will like and through experience will learn the road to success.

OSLER'S THEORY MODIFIED

From the Boston Traveler.
 The efficiency of the old men is emphatically illustrated by the action of the Pennsylvania Railway lines in keeping in active service today more than 4,000 employes who are between 60 and 70 years of age.

The idea that an old man is not a valuable asset to a corporation or to a firm is very erroneous, provided he is in fair physical condition. His thorough knowledge of the business alone enables him to save money for his employer. The old man is methodical and reliable. He may not be a showy workman, but his steady plodding way of getting back at those scrooge-like little expenditures which take pleasure in eluding us, than giving them all the time they want.

Brains and experience still count in the busy world, and a man of mature age usually has sufficient mental energy for the task that fits his abilities. Middle-aged men are today holding together establishments which have used their brains for years and are thereby counts at the end of the day. He is efficient because he is thorough. He does not waste his energies while away from his employment, and is often in better condition for the next day's labor than the careless youths about him.

The king accepted the gift with delight, examining the car and admiring its great interest and began to use it immediately, waiting congratulations to Premier Cabanias on the birth of a little daughter that day.

THE HASKIN LETTER

IMMIGRATION

V—CONTRACT LABOR AND INDUCED IMMIGRATION

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

One of the classes of immigrants that the government desires to keep out of the United States is made up of laborers who come by contract, or who have their passage paid. A law prohibiting the entry of such immigrants was passed in 1885 and has been strengthened by later amendments. The first weakness was found in the lack of provision of machinery for the enforcement of the law. The first amendment gave the secretary of the treasury the right to exclude such immigrants, and the second amendment, in 1888, gave him the right to deport any who were discovered here within a year after their arrival.

When the new immigration law was passed in 1907, it contained a broad provision shutting the doors of our ports to all who have been induced or solicited to come by offers or promises of employment or in consequence of either written, printed or verbal agreements, whether express or implied. It must also be shown that the organization of any kind whatsoever paid for the ticket or passage of the immigrant.

The law provides for the admission of skilled labor under contract, when such labor unemployed cannot be found here, and for the admission of professional people and personal and domestic servants. A penalty of $1,000 is imposed for the violation of the act, and it is to be applied to any person or organization prepaying transportation or assisting or encouraging immigration. But may be instituted by any "contract laborer," any person for his own benefit, or by the alien affected. The issuance of circulars or advertisements in foreign countries, inviting immigration renders the person or organization doing so liable to the penalties of the law, and the immigrant coming as a result thereof liable to deportation. An exception is made of the states, territories and the District of Columbia. They may advertise their natural inducements to immigration. Steamship lines may announce their sailing dates and tell of facilities they offer, but may not tell of the attractions of the United States.

Enforcement of Law Difficult.
 It has been found to be one thing, however, to enact a law shutting out contract labor and induced immigration, and quite another to secure an effective enforcement of it. The commissioner general of immigration says it is exceedingly difficult to secure evidence that will convict the person or organization that plainly is surreptitiously evading the law. He finds it much easier to find the immigrant and deport him than to detect the agency that brought him in a specific violation of the statute.

The courts have been inclined to be liberal in their construction of the law, but we betide the immigrant who permits it to leak out that he has a certain definite job in sight when he lands. On the other hand, it is the almost-universal opinion of the immigration authorities that hundreds of thousands of immigrants have a better idea of the jobs they are going to get than the law allows. A still larger number get here under direct and indirect violation of the law against solicitation of immigrants.

Large employers of labor have a smooth way of getting around the law. The prospective immigrant is not particular about having a definite contract for a job when he lands. All he cares for is a reasonable assurance that there is work in sight. All the employer has to do is to let it be known around his plant that he needs more labor and that he will give employment to the relatives and friends of his employes when they come. Letters by the score are sent back to Europe, some containing money for tickets for relatives, and all containing the information that a job is in sight. The next steamer brings a goodly number of immigrants in response. How can the officials of the government detect or punish such violations of the spirit if not the letter of the law?

Lure Immigrants Over.
 Then there is the immigrant banker, the immigrant grocer, the immigrant saloonkeeper, and their like. They want more immigrants to come for it makes their business better. They are in touch with steamship ticket agents at home. A plant which needs more laborers only has to tell them, and straightway a stream of letters goes to Europe telling of the incessant demand for labor, and inclosing fictitious newspaper articles telling of the fine living conditions, the good wages, and the like. Armed with these, the steamship agent in European labor centers can work just about as successfully as our own American railroad immigration worked in days gone by, although he must work surreptitiously.

To avoid difficulty with the immigration authorities the immigrants who come by this way are furnished with names and mostly fictitious addresses, and only the leader of the group, selected for his superior intelligence, has the address of the real consignee, who usually is an immigrant banker or saloonkeeper.

Of course the people who are determined to evade the law know its ins and outs, and they are always careful to make their offers and promises in such a vague way that they could hardly be held by the courts to be real offers and promises, and the immigration commission admits that they are probably not actually violations of the letter of the law.

The operations in behalf of immigration in southern and eastern Europe are not carried on for the purpose of assisting the immigrant to establish a home in America nor to supply American employers with labor. Rather, they are simply for the purpose of setting steamer passengers for steamship lines. For are they desirous that their countrymen should come to the United States to stay? They prefer the kind that come back for that means two steerage fares instead of one.
